

Flute Classes with Dr. Cate

Only $144 for the entire fall term!

Who: Beginning and first year flute students

What: Weekly one hour flute classes. Beginner class focuses on helping students get off to a great start playing the flute with emphasis on developing good tone, correct hand positions, posture and music reading skills. The class for first year students emphasizes flute specific exercises, ensembles and studies designed to improve tone, finger technique, music reading and rhythm skills. Class size limited to five (5) students each.

Dr. Cate Hummel holds bachelors, masters and doctoral degrees in flute performance. She has been teaching flute for 29 years and is known as one of the top flute instructors in all of Chicagoland.

Where: Ellman's Music, 508 W. 5th Ave., Naperville (behind Naperville North H.S.)

When: Saturdays September 12 through December 12 (no class Sept. 19, Nov. 28)

Why:

- 1) To supplement beginner band classes with more flute specific instruction and personalized attention
- 2) Home practice assignments given at each class.
- 3) To build a foundation in good flute playing for future accomplishments – chair assignments, ensemble placement, IMEA auditions, etc.
- 4) You get all the benefits of having a top flute instructor monitoring and directing your child's progress at a fraction of the cost of private lessons

How: Fill out and return this form with your check made payable to Dr. Cate Hummel, 777 Royal Saint George Dr., #720, Naperville 60563

Cost: Only $144 for 12 sessions, just $12 each! Classes are limited. Why not register today?
